

Application & Intake Privacy Disclosures

Effective Date: September 24, 2026

This disclosure supplements our Privacy Policy and applies specifically to the sensitive information collected through our intended parent, gestational surrogate, and egg donor application and intake forms.

1. Purpose of This Disclosure

Because our intake process asks for sensitive personal information — including medical, genetic, and mental/behavioral health information, and information about race or ethnicity — we provide this additional, specific disclosure about what we collect, why, and how it is used, consistent with California's requirements for Sensitive Personal Information under the CCPA/CPRA.

2. Categories of Information Collected, By Applicant Type

Applicant Type	Categories Collected
Intended Parents	Contact information; family-building timeline and goals; budget or compensation range; fertility clinic, IVF cycle, and embryo status information
Gestational Surrogates	Contact information; body mass index (BMI); ethnicity; obstetric and pregnancy history; medical, reproductive, and mental/behavioral health history; background check information (with consent)
Egg Donors	Contact information; age; medical and genetic/family health history; photographs and government-issued identification for identity verification

3. Why We Collect This Information; Who We Share It With

We collect this information to evaluate eligibility under recognized medical and psychological screening standards (including guidance published by the American Society for Reproductive Medicine), to facilitate accurate matching, and to support the legal and medical steps involved in a surrogacy or egg donation arrangement.

We share relevant portions of this information with:

- Independent physicians, IVF clinics, and mental health professionals who perform medical and psychological evaluations
- Background check companies, with your consent
- Independent legal counsel engaged in connection with your match
- Matched counterparties (for example, sharing a surrogate's relevant profile information with a matched intended parent, and vice versa), as necessary to facilitate the match

- Service providers who support our operations (such as our CRM and e-signature platforms), under confidentiality obligations

We do not sell this information.

4. Sensitive Personal Information and Your Consent

Medical history, mental/behavioral health history, genetic information, and racial/ethnic origin are 'Sensitive Personal Information' under California law. By submitting an application containing this information, you consent to our collection and use of it for the purposes described above. You may decline to provide certain information, though doing so may limit our ability to evaluate your eligibility or match you. You have the right to request that we limit our use of your Sensitive Personal Information to what is necessary to provide our Services.

5. Retention and Your Choices

We retain application and intake information for as long as necessary to support your journey, comply with legal and contractual recordkeeping requirements associated with surrogacy arrangements, and resolve any disputes. You may withdraw your application at any time and may request deletion of your information, subject to information we are required to retain by law or by an executed agreement.

Questions or requests may be directed to privacy@dynastyfamilyplanning.com or Dynasty Family Planning LLC, 7200 Hazard Ave, Westminster, CA 92683.